"I have known Ken Van Sickle as an artist for 30 years and am a major fan of his work. It's wonderful to finally see him presenting the full spectrum of his photographic journey. His black and white photos from Paris and his exquisite studies show an incredible sensitivity to light and form. His more recent play with color and photographic manipulation straddles a painter's world and is not only beautiful but full of whimsy as well."

"Ken is an undiscovered old master... Unknown, yet a peer of Cartier Bresson in that style, and of other masters in theirs... He is at the highest level of fine art photographers... His work is like a large vein of gold... His range and his sense of experimentation are irrepressible... He is not just ahead of his time but on the far edges of his medium... If you love art and photography you must see his work which is just as fresh and engaging today as it was in 1955"
